

ALLEGED TOBACCO SMUGGLER CAUGHT

COBAN IS ARRESTED WITH CIGARS AND CIGARETTES.

Goods Are Not Stamped, and Inspectors Say Prisoner Admitted the Offense Charged.

Franco Rochas, a Cuban, who arrived in this city about three months ago, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields to-day, and held in $1,000 bail for examination on a charge of smuggling cigars and cigarettes into this country.

Rochas, who lives at No. 145 East Fifteenth street, was arrested by Special Customs House Inspectors Charles H. Trautman and Cohen a few days ago. Trautman was notified by a cigar dealer in Pearl street that a lot of fine cigars had been offered to him at a very low price.

Through this man an arrangement was made to meet Rochas. A number of interviews were had and Rochas showed samples of his goods, saying that he would sell them at a bargain. He refused to say at first how they had come into his possession, but it is alleged he finally admitted that they had been smuggled.

The inspectors agreed to buy the lot provided they were equal to the samples shown. They met Rochas by agreement this morning at the corner of Third avenue and Fifteenth street, and went with him to his rooms at No. 145 East Fifteenth street. There they were shown 60,000 Henry Clay cigarettes, 20,000 cigarettes of other brands and 1,000 Henry Clay perfect cigars. None of these goods bore revenue or customs stamps.

The inspectors seized the goods and arrested Rochas. It is believed that there are others concerned with the prisoner in the scheme as the Customs House authorities have reason to believe that a large amount of these goods have been brought into this country.

The stock in the possession of Rochas is valued at $1,500 for the cigarettes and $250 for the cigars, a total of $1,750. He had offered to sell the cigarettes at 5 cents a package, whereas their regular price is 20 cents, and the cigars at $105 a thousand, the regular price being $250.

BURGLARS GOT TRAY OF DIAMONDS

GEMS WORTH $20,000 TAKEN FROM JEWELLER'S WINDOW.

Trail of Precious Stones Marked Flight of Cincinnati Robbers.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 5.—Burglars broke the big show window of the DuMue Jewelry Company's store, on Fourth street, between Vine and Race, early to-day and stole $20,000 worth of diamonds.

In their flight they left a trail of diamonds, indicating the direction they took. The gems stolen were loose on a tray. The night watchman says he heard no noise and saw nothing of the robbers, and it is supposed they took advantage of the noise of a passing wagon or car to break the glass, seize the tray and run.

BRAVE GIRL FIRES AT NEGRO BURGLAR

ANNIE DOHERTY WAS NURSING SICK GRANDMOTHER.

The Hour Was Midnight, but She Fear Not, and the Marauder Fled in Terror.

Annie Doherty, a girl of eighteen, was nursing her sick grandmother at No. 60 Mechanic street, Newark, about midnight last night, when she heard a noise in the hall, and stepping out, saw a negro taking her uncle's new overcoat from the rack.

She ran back into the room, seized a revolver and returning to the hallway fired at the burglar. The bullet went wide and the negro, with a yell of horror, fled from the house.

Then Miss Doherty quietly went back to nurse her grandmother.

A BEAUTIFUL KENTUCKIAN WHO SUCCEEDS IN RACING.

Mrs. Pepper's Office.

Thoroughbreds at Meadow-Thorp

Mrs. Pepper, a Society Leader, Wins More Than $40,000 with Her Horses on the Eastern Turf—Famous Cups Won by Her Thoroughbreds on Famous English Courses.

Close to the head of winning stables on the Eastern turf this season with more than $40,000 to its credit is that of Col. James E. Pepper. If you ask the Colonel he will not hesitate to tell you that the remarkable success of his horses is due to the good business sense and shrewd management of his beautiful wife, Mrs. Ella Pepper.

Col. Pepper is one of the old-school Kentucky turfmen who race for sport and not for gambling. He has at Meadow-Thorp, near Lexington, Ky., one of the most beautiful country places in that land of beautiful country places, and not only does Mrs. Pepper reside over this, but she also directs all the details of one of the most successful breeding establishments in the Bluegrass.

Mrs. Pepper Takes Charge.
A few years ago Col. Pepper's health was seriously impaired. He decided to give up the turf and sell his horses. Then Mrs. Pepper acted. She knew the stables as well as her husband did. She was fond of every horse he owned, and what she proposed in consequence set the Colonel's friends wondering and admiring and applauding.

Mrs. Pepper asked for the transfer of her husband's string of thoroughbreds to herself and that all entries be thereafter made in her name.

Col. Pepper complied, glad to keep his prizes as near his own hands, and Mrs. Pepper became as familiar a name to followers of the turf as had been his own.

A Social Favorite.
Mrs. Pepper was already a social favorite. But news of her new venture brought her a good deal of attention, and made Meadow-Thorp more than ever a center for Lexington people.

The great house is a series of treasuries of beautiful things—rugs and wood and bric-a-brac, and from the broad veranda where the Colonel sat all day many a merry party drove off in the smart turnouts of the Meadow-Thorp stables to the tracks where the blue-blooded beauties were exercised. The Meadow-Thorp Paddock was more than ever accounted a show place.

There are the stables Black Venus and Harleycorn and Whiskey King and Lady Pepper, whom the Colonel named for his favorite wife. The Colonel named those who were before him, and she has always been, and there were a dozen other famous horses, all of fine racing records.

She Buys Kantaka.
Mrs. Pepper did not confine her entries to the horses owned by her husband when she came into possession. She bought for herself, and one purchase proved a notable one. When the late Pierre Lorillard came back from England he brought with him a magnificent animal, which Mrs. Pepper went to no end of pains to secure, and finally bought from Mr. Lorillard.

Last year Mrs. Pepper entered King's Courier for the Dorchester Cup. Owners of judgment shook their heads. At the race, at which half England was present, the Kentucky favorite, the box in which sat the beautiful American woman, quite calm in the midst of the excitement and so resolute and assured that her confidence inspired her friends and somewhat shook that of those who were before her. At first King's Courier was at first hesitation, and without the least hesitation King's Courier passed all the press of last year's season, and he came under the wire an unmistakable head before the rest.

The winning of the Dorchester Cup spread Mrs. Pepper's fame all over England, where she is as well known as she is here.

BORDEN GOING BACK TO OLD RATE

(Special to The Evening World.)
FALL RIVER, Mass., Nov. 5.—Notice was posted in the four cotton mills of the Fall River Iron Works, controlled by M. C. D. Borden, of New York, to-day, announcing that on Nov. 15 a ten per cent. reduction in wages would go into effect.

The reduction will place the wage scale at the iron works where it was before the two advances of five per cent., made recently and bring it back to the level of that paid by the mills in the Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' Association.

The cut by Mr. Borden is regarded as a victory for the association, which has maintained that the industry here could not afford to pay higher wages at this time.

About 2,700 hands are affected.
